

The place attribute places a name that will hold the value of the statement/ expression. In Dr. Cooke's lingo, this is a gentemp command. The code attribute generates a quad, or sequence of quads. Statements have the additional attributes:

- begin: Start flow control statements
- after: End a previously generated flow control statement

Flow control generates labels which are reminiscent of the labels in assembly.