

Note that at line 12, a human should notice an optimization to be had in load directly the result into  $x$ . Also, there are no registers. All memory is symbolic.